2. Treasurer's Report

Treasurer Jill Stairs reported that 2018-2019 was another successful year for the chamber. The chamber team worked hard to recognize and take advantage of opportunities for growth and ended the year in a strong financial position with over $1.4 million in revenue. Although we budgeted for a breakeven year, we ended the year with a surplus of approximately $6,300. There are several sources of revenue for the chamber with the largest being special projects followed by membership. The largest expense items for the chamber are salaries / benefits and special projects. The Board of Directors acknowledged the strong financial position of the chamber and that this may not continue indefinitely and therefore has implemented a reserve policy to set aside funds to establish two separate reserves. An operating reserve has been designated to maintain ongoing operations and programs for a period of six months should the chamber face a slower economic time. An opportunity fund has also been designated to provide funds for special opportunities that may not have been budgeted for at the beginning of the year. In addition to these, 10% of any unbudgeted annual surplus of funds has been designated to be contributed to the chamber's scholarship fund. Jill recognized the chambers staff for their continued efforts in good fiscal reporting and fiduciary management. She also thanked the board for their support over the past year and for trusting her in the position and their demonstrated due diligence in all matters concerning the chamber's activities. MOTION: Ken Critchley moved to accept the Treasurer's report, seconded by Lori Clark, motion approved.

3. Presentation of the Audited Financial Report

Treasurer Jill Stairs presented the audited financial statements completed by Shannon and Buffett. The chamber's year end is April 30th. Page 1 of the audited financial statements is the independent auditor's opinion which shows the year ending with a $6,300 surplus. The statement of operations show that the chamber had budgeted for 1.3 million in revenue and ended the year with 1.4 million which was offset by 1.4 million in expenses. The chamber is happy to end the year with the $6,300 surplus. MOTION: Andrew Steeves moved to accept the audited financial statements as presented, seconded by Lori Clarke, motion approved.

Krista talked about the busy year of events, education and networking. The year started with the State of the City Address which had been moved to a June lunchtime event and the new time was such a success, the event will be held at this time from now on. The chamber hosted another great golf tournament in August and this year, the chamber will be adding a ladies tournament to compliment the existing tournament. The chamber's "academy awards" type event – the Business Excellence Awards was held in October to recognize our great local businesses. Premier Higgs presented his inaugural State of the Province Address in January and Andrew Steeves helped to introduce curling to some chamber members who had never tried the sport in March at our annual Funspiel. All of this in addition to the great monthly networking events that the chamber hosts.

On the advocacy side, the chamber was highly engaged in the provincial election and the events leading up to the election. A taskforce called, “We Choose Growth” was formed through an alliance with the Atlantic Chamber of Commerce, Conseil Economique du Nouveau Brunswick, Saint John Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Moncton of Commerce along with the NB Business Council to help forward the policy priorities for the business community. Our chamber presented two policy resolutions at the Canadian Chamber of Commerce that were both adopted. Another huge initiative that our chamber has been working on, on behalf of the business community is to keep NB competitive with the cost of doing business. Our chamber is working hard to make Fredericton the best place to do business. Krista ended by thanking community partners including: Ignite Fredericton, Planet Hatch, the Knowledge Park, Multicultural Association of Fredericton, Opportunities NB, CyberNB, TIANB, Horizon Health, the City of Fredericton, Business Fredericton North, Downtown Fredericton, and the Government of New Brunswick.

9. By-Law review and adoption of the new bylaws

As the first order of business, President Karen Grant said that the chamber's Governance Committee had been tasked to review the chamber's by-laws to make sure the chamber was compliant with the Board of Trade Act. She called upon Mike Melvin, chair of the committee to explain the process.

Mike Melvin, Chair of the Governance Committee said that the chamber of commerce is governed by the Board of Trade Act and each time changes are made to the bylaws, they must be submitted to Corporations Canada for review. In order for our chamber to be better aligned and compliant, the committee determined the best path was to use Corporations Canada's bylaw builder tool which incorporates their approved language for our bylaws. The newly redesigned bylaws will mean a few minor changes to the way the chamber operates certain things such as the addition of quarterly membership meetings and the election of an official secretary to the board. Mike then asked if there were any questions about the new bylaws. MOTION: Ken Critchley moved to accept the new chamber bylaws as presented, seconded by Gilles Allain, motion approved.

10. Incoming President's Report

President Karen Grant thanked Past President Ryan Boyer for all of his hard work and dedication over the past year. She also thanked Keir Clark for being on the board for many years. She remarked how she was following on the heels of some great leaders. She looks forward to working with the new board of directors and sends best wishes to the outgoing board members. Karen congratulated Andrew Steeves on being presented the 2018-2019 President's Award. Karen started working with the chamber's committees in 2002 and became a board member in 2014. She was been in attendance at three of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce annual conferences and she has seen first hand how much our chamber is well received and respected. Our chamber has an engaged board of directors and has engaged committees who help move the chamber's agendas. During the upcoming year Karen would like the chamber to be an advocate for responsible spending by the Government and for the chamber to move into an advocacy role with the immigration file to make Fredericton the city they want to move to do live and do business. Karen would like to focus on the reorganization and alignment of the chamber's committees at our strategic planning event planned for later this year. Karen ended by thanking the chamber team and she thanked her family for supporting her.

Karen invited everyone to attend the State of the City address on Thursday, June 20th.
